LONG BIO

Oladapo Olatubosun is a Senior Product Engineer, AI Product Builder, and technology speaker based in Lagos, Nigeria, working at the intersection of engineering, product thinking, and emerging technology.

Over 5+ years, Oladapo has built production software across fintech, healthtech, edtech, logistics, AI, and digital commerce, including secure financial products at Cede / Voye, an AI-powered travel platform at Packy AI, an operating system for startups at FoundryHQ, and mobile learning experiences at Kunda Kids.

Starting out in software and mobile development, Oladapo grew increasingly interested in the decisions around the code: what to build, why it matters, how it should work, and how to know it worked. Today that means collaborating across engineering, product, design, and backend teams to turn ambiguous ideas into reliable digital experiences.

Oladapo is especially interested in AI as a practical product-building tool, and in helping engineers and young builders move from consuming technology to creating with it.
